

THINGS TO WATCH FOR

SOLAR ECLIPSE

August 21, 2017 at 1:24 p.m.

Mark your calendars for 2017 – Solar Eclipse

Hopkinsville will become the focus of a natural phenomenon that likely will attract thousands of people from around the world. Because of the precise position of the sun, the moon, and the earth, on that day, the Hopkinsville area will be the point of greatest eclipse.

HOPKINSVILLE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

708 Liberty St / 270-719-9462
Currently undergoing restoration

Built in 1913 and occupied in 1914, this Classical Revival building served as Hopkinsville's public library until the need for a larger building arose in 1976. One of 27 Carnegie Libraries built in Kentucky, it will reopen as the Hopkinsville Carnegie Library of Kentucky Architecture. It will be a multi-purpose cultural facility. In addition to being a repository for information on Kentucky architects, it will also be a facility for regularly scheduled lectures on architecture. There will be gallery space, with exhibitions that will change every 60 days.

Perhaps the Carnegie Library's most important function will be the after school tutoring programs to help students of all ages with their writing skills.

PHOTO WALKS

Historic Downtown offers an array of photography opportunities with the detailed historic architecture. Take a walk through the historic districts for more beautiful scenes. Drive throughout the country side and enjoy our abundant agriculture and Self Guided Tours.

SELF GUIDED TOURS

At one time, Hopkinsville was a place of more than 200 thriving black-owned businesses ran by doctors, lawyers, realtors and pharmacists.

There were also several African-American schools, including the Hopkinsville Male and Female College, now called the College of the Bible.

Some black churches sat corner to corner with nearly 25 clubs and juke joints, including the Chesterfield Lounge, which was frequented by Al Capone.

Brochures for Self Guided Tours are available at the Pennyroyal Area Museum.

ATTRACTIONS

TRAIL OF TEARS COMMEMORATIVE PARK

Skyline Dr & Hwy 41 / 800-842-9959 / www.trailoftears.org

Situated on a portion of the campground used by the Cherokee Indians on the infamous Trail of Tears, this portion includes the grave sites of Chiefs White Path and Fly Smith. Also on the site is a restored log cabin, Heritage Center and picnic areas. A Trail of Tears Pow Wow is held annually the weekend following Labor Day with native dance competitions, crafts, food and more.

PENNYROYAL AREA MUSEUM

217 E 9th St / 270-887-4270 / www.museumsofhopkinsville.org

Encounter the early life of Edgar Cayce, “The Sleeping Prophet,” come face to face with masked vigilantes of the Black Patch Tobacco War, pay tribute to military heroes, and discover the region’s rich African American heritage at the Pennyroyal Area Museum. Nestled on 9th St. in the former 1914 Post Office, Hopkinsville’s oldest museum showcases the community and region history through permanent exhibits, educational programs, and special events.

WOODY WINFREE FIRE-TRANSPORTATION MUSEUM

310 E 9th St / 270-887-4270 / www.museumsofhopkinsville.org

Cruise down memory lane with classic cars at this Kentucky museum. Part of the Museums of Historic Hopkinsville–Christian County family of museums, the museum resides in the city’s old Central Fire Station and honors fire fighters while preserving history. The collection traces the history of transportation with a buggy, wagons, gas pumps from the 1930s and ‘40s, a 1927 Chevrolet Pumper antique fire truck, a 1909 Model 10 Buick, and a 1926 Model “T” Ford.

CHARLES JACKSON CIRCUS MUSEUM

314 E 9th St / 270-887-4270 / www.museumsofhopkinsville.org

The Big Top is always in town at the Charles Jackson Circus Museum! With a circus collection including Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus memorabilia, this once-private collection of trains, clowns, antique toys, and vintage posters dates back to the 1920s. Part of the Museums of Historic Hopkinsville–Christian County family, this museum houses items that Charles Jackson, a Pennyroyal Area Museum founder, collected over his lifetime. With its fun-house mirror and sawdust-covered floor, there’s plenty to amuse and amaze anyone who’s ever loved The Big Top.

HISTORIC DOWNTOWN

Renaissance-Main St / 270-498-5180

Look up to enjoy intricate detailed historic architecture while strolling among local shopping boutiques in historic downtown Hopkinsville. Wares include ladies clothing and accessories, home decor and accessories, antiques, books, skin and hair care, fine jewelry, hardware and more. With dining options, live theatre, art exhibits, museums, parks, and a seasonal Farmer’s Market, there’s much to enjoy in historic downtown Hopkinsville.

FORT CAMPBELL MEMORIAL PARK

41-A & Pennyryle Parkway / 270-885-9096 or 800-842-9959

The 16-acre Fort Campbell Memorial Park honors 248 soldiers who were killed in 1985 while returning home to Fort Campbell. The park features a paved walking trail, benches and lighted “Peacekeeper” monument sculpted by Hopkinsville artist Steve Shields. The seven-foot copper statue is fronted by granite markers chiseled with the names of the fallen soldiers.

JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT

The Jefferson Davis Monument State Historic Site is a memorial to the Confederate president born on the site in 1808. The 351-foot concrete obelisk rests on a foundation of Kentucky limestone and contains walls seven feet thick at the base, tapering to two feet thick at the incline. The site includes a Visitor’s Center with gift shop, picnic shelters and a playground.

ROUND TABLE LITERARY PARK

720 North Dr

Nestled among a grove of trees on the Hopkinsville Community College campus, the park features King Arthur’s Sword in the Stone, a 22,000 pound replica of King Arthur’s Round Table, Melpomene, the Muse of Tragedy, a Greco-Roman amphitheater, a Medieval Wall, and the Delphian Tholos.

DON F. PRATT MEMORIAL MUSEUM

Tennessee Ave, Building 5702, Ft Campbell / 270-798-4986

Located within Fort Campbell at the Kentucky/Tennessee border, this museum traces the history of the famed 101st Airborne Division “Screaming Eagles” from World War II engagements to Vietnam to Operation Desert Storm. Various aircraft, military equipment and monuments are on display.

LONE OAK HOUSE MUSEUM

317 E 16th St / 270-719-9462

Open by appointment

Dating from 1835, Hopkinsville’s Lone Oak House Museum represents a transition from the Federal style of architecture to the Greek Revival. Featured in one of New York City architect Minard Lafever’s house plan books, it is one of only three documented Temple Form Greek Revival houses ever built in Hopkinsville. One was torn down at the beginning of the 20th Century, and the other survivor is the Dillard House (also from a design by Lafever), which is now Planters Bank. Lone Oak was altered in 1880 with the addition of two upstairs front rooms.

EDGAR CAYCE

CONSIDERED BY MANY TO BE THE Greatest Psychic OF THE 20TH CENTURY

Edgar Cayce was born on March 18, 1877 in Hopkinsville. It was here as a young man that he developed his remarkable talents as a clairvoyant. Due to his readings on health, he is considered by many to be the Father of Holistic Medicine.

From 1901, when he was 24, until his death in 1945, he gave over 14,000 "readings." Mr. Cayce gave readings while in a self-induced trance. Lying down, he would close his eyes, loosen his collar and shoes, and enter into a place of altered consciousness. A conductor directed questions to Mr. Cayce, and he answered them by tapping into what was believed to be a universal knowledge. A stenographer recorded and later typed the words spoken through him during these readings. The readings cover such a wide array of subject matter that they were indexed under more than 10,000 major subject headings, with more than 225,000 index cards.

Most of the readings were given for individuals and, therefore, deal with specific personal questions concerning various aspects of physical, mental, spiritual, vocational and interpersonal life. Some of these readings, however, were complete discourses on topics such as meditation, Bible interpretation, and world affairs. It was not necessary for the person obtaining the reading to be present: Mr. Cayce was able to describe individuals and diagnose their physical condition with surprising accuracy, even though they might have been hundreds of miles away. From these readings, thousands of people reported being helped, often in ways that transformed their lives. Studied as a whole, the readings provide specific procedures, which many consider helpful in treating many illnesses. And now, decades after Mr. Cayce's death, his readings continue to inspire, educate and amaze those who research them.

Take the Edgar Cayce Cell Phone Tour while visiting Hopkinsville! The Edgar Cayce Cell Phone Tour brochure can be found at the Museums of Hopkinsville or at www.visithopkinsville.com

WITH THOUSANDS OF READINGS PERTAINING TO MORE THAN 10,000 SUBJECTS, THE TOPICS OF EDGAR CAYCE'S SESSIONS ARE VAST. HERE IS A SAMPLING OF HIS "Universal Knowledge"

For, none may tell another how to be beautiful. It must be the reflection of that entertained in the heart and mind of the individual. And as He is beauty, He is friendship, He is love, the more and the nearer individuals reflect that in their conversation, in their dealings with their fellow man, the greater the glory to Him. Reading 2574-1

But above all, let the mind be of constructive influence, ever. Be not only good, but good FOR something. In each contact, in each activity every day, make those acquaintances, those activities, BETTER by thy association with same!

See in others the good. Do not deny or try to cover up those things that are of a detrimental or an evil influence; just encourage in self and in others the good - and the good for a purposefulness. Reading 2448-1

As to the building supply for the system through the diets, we would cling rather to that which makes for the reduction of acidity; the building of the white AND red blood supply, through a consistent activity towards nerve- building foods and values...

Hence, there should be a reduction in sugars - only taking those sugars from fruits and from the vegetables; with the fats that would be from nuts, preferably. Use rather almonds and filberts than black walnuts, English walnuts or even Brazilian nuts; though these will be helpful at times, but very small amounts of same. Reading 787-1

Leave off the finding of faults, and so many faults will not be found with you. Leave off speaking unkindly. If it is impossible to say nice things about a person, keep silent - even though what you might say may be true. Reading 3376-1

Edgar Cayce's advice to a couple planning to marry, in 1935: Remember each, love is giving; it is a growth. It may be cultivated or it may be seared. That of selflessness on the part of each is necessary. Remember, the union of body, mind and spirit in such as marriage should ever be not for the desire of self but as ONE. Love grows; love endures; love forgiveth; love understands; love keeps those things rather as opportunities that to others would become hardships.

Then, do not sit STILL and expect the other to do all the giving, nor all the forgiving; but make it rather as the unison and the purpose of each to be that which is a COMPLEMENT one to the other, ever. Reading 939-1

HISTORY

HISTORIC PLACES

FORT CAMPBELL MEMORIAL PARK

41-A & Pennyrile Parkway / 270-885-9096 / 800-842-9959

The 16-acre Fort Campbell Memorial Park honors 248 soldiers who were killed in 1985 while returning home to Fort Campbell. The park features a paved walking trail, benches and lighted "Peacekeeper" monument sculpted by Hopkinsville artist Steve Shields.

HISTORIC DOWNTOWN

Renaissance-Main St / 270-498-5180

Look up to enjoy intricate detailed historic architecture while strolling among local shopping boutiques in historic downtown Hopkinsville. Wares include ladies clothing and accessories, home decor and accessories, antiques, books, skin and hair care, fine jewelry, hardware and more. With dining options, live theatre, art exhibits, museums, parks, and a seasonal Farmer's Market, there's much to enjoy in historic downtown Hopkinsville.

JEFFERSON DAVIS MONUMENT

Hwy 68 E, Fairview, KY 42221 / 270-889-6100 / www.parks.ky.gov

The Jefferson Davis Monument State Historic Site is a memorial to the Confederate president born on the site in 1808. The 351-foot concrete obelisk rests on a foundation of Kentucky limestone and contains walls seven feet thick at the base, tapering to two feet thick at the incline. The site includes a Visitor's Center with gift shop, picnic shelters and a playground.

KENTUCKY VETERANS CEMETERY-WEST

5817 Ft Campbell Blvd / 270-889-6106

A 25-foot eagle and a 65-foot pole for the American flag mark the entrance to the Kentucky Veterans Cemetery-West. On grave sites marked with white crosses, Veterans of all wars and ranks are buried side by side. A computer terminal in a brick entry building with a heated foyer helps visitors find the graves or stored ashes of loved ones.

MCCARROLL GENEALOGY ROOM

9th & Bethel St / 270-887-4262 / www.hccpl.org

Open: Monday - Saturday

Located inside the Public Library, this resource provides a wealth of research materials for tracing the heritage of people whose lives touched Christian County.

ROUND TABLE LITERARY PARK

720 North Dr

Nestled among a grove of trees on the Hopkinsville Community College campus, the park features King Arthur's Sword in the Stone, a 22,000 pound replica of King Arthur's Round Table, Melpomene, the Muse of Tragedy, a Greco-Roman amphitheater, a Medieval Wall, and the Delphian Tholos.

TRAIL OF TEARS COMMEMORATIVE PARK

Skyline Dr & Hwy 41 / 800-842-9959 / www.trailoftears.org

Situated on a portion of the campground used by the Cherokee Indians on the infamous Trail of Tears, this portion includes the grave sites of Chiefs White Path and Fly Smith. Also on the site is a restored log cabin, Heritage Center and picnic areas. A Trail of Tears Pow Wow is held annually the weekend following Labor Day with native dance competitions, crafts, food and more.

VIRGINIA PARK

Located on the NE corner of E 9th St and S Campbell St

Virginia Park is a two acre, historic park, bequeathed to the City by the late John C. Latham in 1909, in honor of his mother. Originally designed by the landscape architectural firm of Frederick Law Olmstead, who also designed New York City's Central Park, and many of the parks in Louisville, Kentucky. Virginia park currently includes the original band stand, sidewalks, park benches, and picnic tables.
